

Healthxchange Pharmacy announces their partnership with the 'British Association of Cosmetic Nurses' (BACN)

London ,May 2017: Healthxchange Pharmacy, the award winning distributor of pharmacy and aesthetic supplies, are delighted to announce their new and exciting partnership with the British Association of Cosmetic Nurses (BACN), the UK's largest association for professional nurses carrying out aesthetic treatments. With a shared aim of promoting clinical excellence and patient safety through the provision of world-class training and products, this partnership will enable better education and support for nurses in the industry.

Healthxchange Pharmacy has demonstrated its commitment to education and training by establishing the Healthxchange Academy, providing nationwide training in aesthetics products and services with leading trainers who are recognised as the best in their field. The BACN is grateful for the support Healthxchange can offer through the Academy, the business and in helping to communicate messages through marketing and clinical teams.

As part of this new connection Healthxchange Pharmacy will be joining the BACN at their large conference in Birmingham on the 16th September, as well as two of their regional gatherings later in the year; Edinburgh 3rd November and Bristol 8th December.

Healthxchange Pharmacy's Marketing director, Steve Joyce expressed his pleasure at striking up this new working relationship, "Healthxchange Pharmacy are excited for what the partnership will offer over the coming year and are looking forward to working with the BACN to help provide further professional development, promote safe clinical practice and exciting networking opportunities for its members."

Paul Burgess, CEO of BACN comments, "The BACN is delighted to be working with Healthxchange as a strategic partner in 2017. It will be great doing regional events and the annual conference together. We are also looking at creative ways of engaging with the amazing new nurses entering the aesthetic industry."
